"Über den Autor und weitere Mitwirkende My love for writing started when I was just a kid, and now as an adult, I'm happy to be pursuing this calling through a career as a writer. I studied philosophy in college, so the nature of existence and human emotion are topics that have interested me for many years. I also have my Master in Business Administration, which is a testament to my interest in being an entrepreneur alongside being a writer. Although I started with spoken word poetry, over the years I began writing more traditional poems and prose. My future goals as a writer, alongside continuing to create more poems, include writing a novel, a collection of short stories, and other nonfiction works about topics that interest me like investing, entrepreneurship, and technology."
